About SwissIX

SwissIX operates the largest Internet Exchange in Switzerland, in terms of traffic as well as number of peers, and is one of the leading Internet Exchange Points (IXP) in Europe. SwissIX was founded in March 2001 by a group of Swiss Internet service providers as an association to create a neutral infrastructure for the exchange of Internet traffic in Switzerland. SwissIX is present with its core network in the data centers of Digital Realty (Zurich), Equinix, colozüri, Coloborn Nord², Green Datacenter (Lupfig), and NTT Global Datacenter (Rümlang) and has another reseller location at IWB in Basel. RomandIX (Lausanne) and Rheinthal-IX (Eastern Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Southern Germany) are connected via the SwissIX outreach program. The core network is optimally equipped with 400 Gbit/s bandwidth. <https://www.swissix.ch>
